DIRECTIONS: Cut as close to soil as possible and scrape bark off exposed roots. Liberally paste all exposed wood with a 3mm layer of gel and cut off leafy shoots and paste the cuts. Gel is quickly drawn into the plant's root system sealing the cut. Plants should not regrow. Simply retreat any regrowth that does occur. For detailed instructions and videos for specific weeds visit cutnpaste.co.nz or email info@cutnpaste.co.nz

HANDLING, PRECAUTIONS & EQUIPMENT CARE

The active ingredient, Picloram, is ground residual and can travel through soil, particularly when large numbers of weeds are treated. The mode of action of the pyridine group of herbicides is to disrupt cell growth; some weeds may be resistant to these chemicals. You are advised not to use next to desirable or known sensitive native plants or in areas where their roots might extend to. Do not use if rain is expected within two hours. The active ingredient from the gel can leach onto wanted plants. Effectiveness may also be reduced.

Keep away from children, pets, foodstuffs, seeds, fertilizer and pesticide.
